

CS3000 Ethics Assignment – P/F – Due midnight through Eagle – October 28

I am sure everyone has heard about the on-going debate over health-care in Congress. Part of the reason for or the result of the debate is that there is more than one bill circulating in Congress. For this paper (length > 8 pages, double spaced, 12 pt font), you are to research two different bills in Congress. Be sure to identify which bills you are reviewing and the source at which you acquired the text of the bill. For these two bills, you are to compare them on an element for element basis. Also, as you perform this comparison, you should look at their financial impact on three groups, low income, middle income, and high income. You may even want to go finer within each of those groups. Next, I want you to examine these bills' impacts in terms of the seven ethical issues listed below. Finally, I want you to determine whether or not one, both, or neither of the bills meets the standard for being ethical in terms of the seven ethical issues, and WHY!

Seven Ethical Issues

1. Quality of life
2. Use of power
3. Risks and reliability
4. Property rights
5. Privacy
6. Equity & access
7. Honesty and deception
